

A glazed stoneware ovoid vase by Jim Malone (b. 1946)

£780

REF: 5512

Height: 28.5 cm (11.2")

Diameter: 22 cm (8.7")

Description

The body in a green ash and iron glaze with applied and impressed decoration, impressed JM potter's seal.

England, c. 1970s

Malone's work is influenced by Shoji Hamada, who likened his own ceramics to 'the tree growing on the mountainside', where it is in tune with nature and growing freely.

Malone set up a studio in Wales and then Cumbria, focusing on the essential values of life, 'to communicate beauty through pottery form'.