Description

The square top veneered in amboyna with a macassar ebony veneered edge resting on a solid macassar ebony cruciform base with inset amboyna panels on small block feet.

France, circa 1920s

A fascinating character, Jourdain combined his talents as a painter, furniture maker, interior designer, ceramicist and decorative artist with his work as a political activist.

He was a regular exhibitor at major French expositions, showing new, exciting and innovative work, using unusual combinations of materials.
